Philips TV Tips
Did you know your Philips TV can power on to a TV Channel or the Home Screen?

The following options may be helpful but are not required: Your TV's home screen serves as the central hub for many TV features. By default, the Philips TV powers ON to this screen, providing guests with easy access to popular streaming apps like NETFLIX and YouTube, as well as casting. However, if your property does not offer these smart features, you can adjust the "Switch On Settings" so that the TV turns ON and displays regular TV channels instead.

For more information on changing your TV's "Switch On Settings" contact your Philips Dealer or visit the FAQ page on cleanremote.com. Regardless of the setting you choose, launching TV, streaming, and casting options can be done from the home screen.

Note: For more direct access to your Philips TVs Input and Sleep functions set the remote to Philips only mode: Press and hold both the POWER button and the number 3 button for 5 seconds.
Important: To restore the remotes default setting: Press and hold both the POWER button and the number 0 button for 5 seconds.
